TLA ANNUAL MEETING

The annual business meeting of the Theatre Library Association took place on Thursday afternoon, November 15, 1979, in the Vincent Astor Gallery of the Library/Museum of the Performing Arts at Lincoln Center. Twenty-six members attended as well as several guests. President Brooks McNamara presided.

In the absence of Richard M. Buck (who was attending the White House Conference on Library and Information Services), the Treasurer’s Report was read by the Vice-President, Louis A. Rachow. Paid membership in TLA is now 444, an increase of twenty-eight over last year. There were seventeen new personal members and eleven new institutional members. However, because of rising expenses — particularly the costs of printing and mailing — the treasury now stands at $7,569.20 compared to $9,487.19 a year ago. Active recruitment of new members will be necessary if we are to continue our current range of activities without raising dues and still keep the budget balanced.

The President reported on a change in the TLA/ASTR Lecture Series for 1980. Instead of a joint committee to plan all four lectures, TLA will be responsible for two programs (not necessarily lectures) and ASTR for two. We are currently planning a March program at the Museum of the City of New York to coincide with the opening of an exhibition on the long-running play, Life With Father. An April meeting may be held at The Players where the speaker will be Malcolm Goldstein, author of George S. Kaufman: His Life, His Theater. Other possibilities are a visit to the Hatch-Billops Studio to see their holdings.

CHAPE PROCEEDINGS

Hot off the press, and available to TLA members at a 40% discount, is the volume of Papers and Proceedings of the Conference on the History of American Popular Entertainment entitled American Popular Entertainment. Send a check for $15 immediately to Richard M. Buck, Secretary-Treasurer, 111 Amsterdam Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10023.

PERFORMING ARTS COLLECTIONS GUIDE

Earlier this year the Theatre Library Association Board of Directors endorsed a proposal to investigate and pursue the possibilities of publishing a more complete guide to performing arts collections than those now available. Although R. R. Bowker Company (whose highly successful Guide to Subject Collections compiled by Lee Ash is now in its fifth edition) has expressed some interest in the undertaking, the project has come to a standstill. Librarians and curators who feel strongly about the publica-

FREEDLEY-TLA AWARDS

Authors, publishers, and members of the Theatre Library Association are invited to submit nominations for the 1979 George Freedley Award and The Theatre Library Association Award to be presented by the Association this Spring.

The George Freedley Award, established in 1968, in memory of the late theatre historian, critic, author, and first curator of The New York Public Library Theatre Collection, honors a work in the field of theatre published in the United States. Only books with subjects related to live performance (including vaudeville, puppetry, pantomime, circus) will be considered for the George Freedley Award. This may be biography, history, criticism, reference, or related fields. The 1978 recipient was Richard Altick for his The Shows of London (Harvard). A special citation went to Philip H. Highfill, Jr., Kalman A. Burnim, and Edward A. Langhans for their continuing series, A Biographical Dictionary of Actors, Actresses, Musicians, Dancers, Managers and Other Stage Personnel in London, 1660–1800 (Southern Illinois Univ. Press).

Jurors for the 1979 Award are: William W. Appleton, Professor Emeritus, Columbia University; Gilbert B. Cross, Eastern Michigan University; and Mary Ann Jensen, Curator, Theatre Collection, Princeton University.

The Theatre Library Association Award, established in 1973, honors a book published in the U. S. in the field of recorded performance, including motion pictures and television. Last year’s recipient was Kevin Brownlow for his The War, The West, and The Wilderness (Knopf). This year’s jurors are:

on Black Theatre; a trip to the Astoria Film Studios where there is an extensive film archive; and a tour of the Museum of Broadcasting.

In April 1981 the Sonneck Society (American music historians) is planning a "Musical Theatre in America Conference" to be held at C.W. Post College. T.L.A. would like to participate with a panel on resources for studying the subject. Richard M. Buck and Thor E. Wood will be our representatives on the planning committee. ASTR will also participate.

The CHAPE proceedings, edited by Myron Matlaw, have been published and are available to T.L.A. members for $15, a 40% discount from the list price.

Titles are being compiled for the 1980 George Freedley and T.L.A. Awards. Anne G. Schlosser, librarian of the Charles K. Feldman Library of the American Film Institute, was asked to join the jury for the T.L.A. Award (books on recorded performance) and she has accepted.

Brief reports were delivered on expected publication dates of Broadside and Performing Arts Resources. Two issues of PAR are to be published in 1980, Volume 5 appearing at the beginning of the year and Volume 6 at the end, thus bringing us back into line with our planned annual publication schedule. Volume 5 will be a special edition, edited by William W. Appleton comprising the hitherto unpublished memoirs of the performer, Mr. O. Smith. Volume 6 will return to the regular format, being a compilation of articles on new theatre collections and related subjects.

The results of the straw vote concerning a possible name change for the Theatre Library Association were reported: 86 members favored retention of the present name; 59 members opted for Performing Arts Library Association; and 11 members voted for a variety of other names. It was noted that many of the T.L.A. votes included strongly-worded comments to back up this choice, while the comments on PALA and "other" vote cards were much milder.

The Conservation Workshop planning committee is drawing up a proposal to present to foundations which may be interested in funding the Workshop. It is expected that about two years of preparation will be needed to arrange the conference.

A brief report was given on T.L.A. participation in the American Library Association meetings in Dallas last June, where we sponsored panels on film librarianship and conservation of materials. A.L.A. will meet in New York in July 1980, and T.L.A. expects to have a program as usual. T.L.A. also participated in the American Theatre Association conference in New York City last August, offering panels on theatre collections in the metropolitan area and on archives of recorded performances and personalities. The 1980 ATA meeting will be held in San Diego, and T.L.A. hopes to organize a session on collections in the Western part of the United States.

Paul Myers delivered a tribute to honor the late Ford Curtis which will be reprinted in the Fall 1979 issue of Broadside. Mr. Curtis was a member of the T.L.A. Executive Board at the time of his death.

Results of the election of new Board members were announced. The successful candidates are: Robert C. Eason, Jr.; Frank C. P. McGlenn; Sally T. Pavetti and Betty Wharton.

Under the heading, New Business, the President asked for suggestions from the floor as to how we could increase our membership. One suggestion was that members bring friends to the T.L.A./ASTR Lecture Series (which are open to the public) who could be invited to join the Association on the spot if they are interested. Another suggestion was to contact library schools so that interested students would know of our existence. A different type of project to bring T.L.A. to public notice would be a traveling exhibition designed to show the holdings of various collections; such an exhibition might tour the country and possibly go overseas.

When the business meeting ended, those present were joined by other guests to hear Martha Mahard, Curatorial Associate, Harvard Theatre Collection, present a delightful and informative slide lecture on Historical Promptbooks: a Peep Behind the Curtain. Her lecture also served as the official opening of the annual American Society for Theatre Research Conference.

FORD E. CURTIS

Ford E. Curtis was an excellent example of the now almost extinct collector of the Arts. Fortunately for theatre researchers and students, his interest lay in the performing arts.

In 1959, Ford retired as a Professor of English and Drama at the University of Pittsburgh. At that time, with the aid of his late wife, Harriet, he devoted himself to building the Curtis Theatre Collection at the University of Pittsburgh. The original concept for the Collection dates to 1950, when Ford and Harriet decided to turn over their own vast collection of theatre memorabilia to the University. They had been collecting programmes for a lifetime - both in Pittsburgh and on their trips to New York, about the United States, and abroad. In addition to programmes, they had also saved clippings, photographs and souvenir albums. Prior to the institution of the bazaars of the Research Library of the Performing Arts at Lincoln Center, the Billy Rose Theatre Collection used to send large cartons of duplicate materials to Ford.

Since the formal inauguration of the Curtis Theatre Collection, Ford acquired (among other important archives) the library of the Drama League of Pittsburgh, the Oliver P. Merriam Collection ( scrapbooks re the Pittsburgh stage of the 1930's), the John M. Radovic Collection ( a complete file re the George Sharp Players, a 1920's Pittsburgh stock company), material re theatre activity at Carnegie Institute of Technology (now Carnegie-Mellon), the Pittsburgh Playhouse and Archives of Thomas Kenyon, whose father built the Kenyon Theatre on Pittsburgh's north side.

All of the above, however, does not capture the warmth and the friendliness of Ford. On his frequent trips to New York, I would generally have a meal with him and both of us would talk "theatre". He gave of his time to the Theatre Library Association and the American Society for Theatre Research. A flyer in the file about him at the Billy Rose Theatre Collection announces a lecture on "One Hundred Fifty Years of the Theatre in Pittsburgh" for the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania. His presence among us will be sorely missed, but he leaves a legacy of devotion, service and dedication.

Works ineligible for both awards include anthologies; collection of articles and essays previously published in other sources; reprints of publications; works on dance, ballet and opera; plays and similar dramatic works. Translations of significant works, other than play texts, will be considered.

Entries will be judged on the basis of scholarship, readability, and general contribution to the broadening of knowledge. No galley sheets or proofs will be accepted. Books nominated for the 1979 Awards must have been published in the 1979 calendar year. If no date of publication appears on the title page or its verso, the date must be indicated in the written nomination.

All nominations must be in the hands of the jury no later than March 1, 1980. The selection of the Award winners will be determined by the separate three-member juries appointed by the Executive Committee of the Theatre Library Association.

Nominations are to be submitted in writing to the Chairman of the George Freedley Theatre Library Association Awards Committees, Professor Don B. Wilmeth of Brown University. Publishers are asked to submit four published copies of all books nominated. One copy should be sent directly to each member of the appropriate jury and one copy to the Chairman. A DICTIONARY OF THE THEATRE
Joel Trapido, Professor Emeritus of the University of Hawaii at Manoa, is engaged in the later stages of a dictionary of the theatre from the beginnings to 1980. The undertaking, which is of theatre language only, is directed at an audience which includes the general reader as well as scholars and students in various disciplines (e.g., theatre, drama, literature, and foreign languages). A completed manuscript is planned for June 1982.

The dictionary will run to some 8,000 entries and a quarter of a million words. The content of a typical entry will consist of the theatrical meaning and the source of the meaning when known but not obvious. Dated citations will often be given, as will some illustrative quotations or suggestions for further reading. In addition to dating, all citations will include a brief identification key to a bibliography. Pronunciation and etymology, when ascertainable, will be provided for terms including foreign terms (e.g., deiuelistae, kata) not found in large English dictionaries.

All periods of theatre history and all production activities will be covered as will distinctions between American, British, Canadian and Australian English. The emphasis

BARNARD HEWITT AWARD

The University Theatre of the University of Illinois—Urbana and the American Theatre Association announce the Barnard Hewitt Award for Outstanding Research in Theatre History. The five hundred dollar award is presented annually at the ATA National Convention to an individual United States scholar or group of scholars who have produced a work judged to be outstanding in the field of theatre history. The works to be judged may or may not have been published, but must be in an archival form — book, paper, article, monograph, film, tape, etc. — and datable as completed within the calendar year prior to the year the award is presented. The fourth presentation will be made at the ATA Convention in August 1980 in San Diego.

This is the first major award for research in theatre history in the United States, and the University Theatre of the University of Illinois—Urbana and the American Theatre Association take pride in the fact that it is a living, continuing tribute to one of the outstanding scholars of the American Theatre: Barnard Hewitt, Chairman of the Department of The Judging Committee for the 1979 Barnard Hewitt Award is composed of Professor Brooks McNamara, New York University, Chairman; Professor Ralph Allen, University of Tennessee; and Professor Monroe Lippman, University of California, Riverside. This panel will evaluate all works which have been submitted to it for consideration by members of ATA and by other scholars and interested persons. Only works nominated in this fashion will be considered for the award. Nominations should be made no later than 1 April, 1980. All the submissions should be made in four copies. The committee chairman should receive two copies and the other judges one copy each. Names and addresses follow: Professor Brooks McNamara (two copies), Graduate Drama Department, 300 South Building, New York University, New York, N.Y. 10003; Professor Ralph Allen (one copy), Department of Speech and Theatre, 206 McClung Tower, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tennessee 37916; and Professor Monroe Lippman (one copy), 1631 Ransom Road, Riverside, California 92506.
